

Computer algebra: formalization and applications to network reliability and biomedical image processing

Eduardo Sáenz de Cabezón (U. La Rioja)

The title of this talk correspond to the main line of research of the computer algebra group in Universidad de la Rioja (Spain). In the talk we will present the mathematical and computational techniques used in our research together with the applications and use cases.